

BlueScope Pipeline Supplies; National distributor for Victaulic®

BlueScope Pipeline Supplies is proud to announce it is now a national distributor for Victaulic® piping products and systems.

Leading global piping system manufacturer Victaulic® has recently undertaken an overhaul of its distribution network within Australia, appointing BlueScope Pipeline Supplies as national distributor of their full line of mechanical joining products and piping systems, used in mining and commercial HVAC applications.

Bluescope Pipeline Supplies has a long and proud history delivering a wide range of piping products and solutions to our customers. A key link in the Bluescope Steel chain, Bluescope Pipeline Supplies is able to utilise the vast network of BlueScope Distribution branches to deliver innovative piping solutions to a wide range of industries. Bluescope Pipeline Supplies has the technical skills and product knowledge to supply even the most complex projects, now also supported by Victaulic®'s technical and pioneering expertise.

Under this new partnership, Bluescope Pipeline Supplies will have available the full range of mechanical pipe joining products, including PVC, HDPE, carbon steel, stainless steel, and copper piping systems. The range will suit a variety of applications such as utility services, process piping, tailings, paste fill, chiller and condenser pipe work.

Through Bluescope Pipeline Supplies, customers will be able to source their complete piping systems, easily accessible through a nationwide network, with proven labor and cost savings using Victaulic® products.
